Mr. Reed,

I just wanted to send you a quick note to say “Thank you” for hiring me to be a part of this amazing school community. I am so energized and inspired by the awesome teachers on my team and am so eager to get to work to make a difference in the lives of my students. I love this school and am so glad to begin my career here.

I am also thankful to be here because the school demographics match the requirements of the federal student loan forgiveness program. What a blessing it is to serve in a diverse community like our school and to also have my school loans forgiven in a few years. I don’t know if I ever told you, but I am a first-generation college student, and my mother (single parent) worked overtime and extra shifts to provide for me when I was kid. We didn’t have a lot of money, and student loans were the only option I had to attend college. I am just so thankful to have the opportunity to have those loans forgiven so that I can begin building a life of my own and give back to my mother.

Thank you for everything! I am looking forward to a great school year!

Thanks,
Robin Smart
